Remains Sovereign Chief, for Fifth Term, of Sons of Jonadab. At the recent session of the Sovereign Council, Sons of Jonadab, at Harpers Ferry, Mr. S. H. Willey of this city was re-elected sovereign chief for the fifth term. In his annual message to the organization he vigprously reaffirmed the position of the association as the only one endowed with the lifetime pledge against intoxicants. Other officers elected were: Sovereign vice chief, J. J. Hayne of Washington; sovereign patriarch, J. H. Cox of Bolivar, W. Va.; sovereign secretary, William H. Young of Washington; sovereign treasurer, Frank J. McQuade of Washington; sovereign guide, Fred O. Lentz of Washington; sovereign watchman, W. P. Evans of Washington. By unanimous vote Washington was selected as the place in which to hold the session of

In the course of his message Sovereign chief Willey said: "During the year some of the councils have celebrated in public manner their anniversaries. The councils of Washington all held watch-night meetings at their various halls on the night of December 31.
Innovations on past customs were inaugurated by Pioneer and Good Will councils in inviting the attendance of the ladies of Jonadab families and their friends to be present at their meetings. There have been some excursions among the councils during the past summer, and Potomac and Shenandoah councils have inaugurated a system of fraternal visits that are indeed pleasing and gratifying. Potomac took the initiative and surprised Shenandoah in a body. This visit was returned in like manner. Such mani-festations of the true Jonadab spirit are
